

Cited Reference Searching

Cited reference searching is used to find recent articles that have cited an earlier article (usually an article published 2 years ago or more).

Begin at the library homepage (<http://library.villanova.edu>). Scroll down to Databases A-Z, click and choose Science Citation Index Expanded.

At the search page, click the dropdown arrow and choose Cited Reference Search:

We will search for recent articles that have cited this one:

Zimmerman, F. J. (2011). Using marketing muscle to sell fat: the rise of obesity in the modern economy. Annu Rev Public Health, 32, 285-306.
doi: 10.1146/annurev-publhealth-090810-182502.

In the Cited Author search box, type the last name, space, first initial, asterisk (*).

In the Cited Work search box, type the title of the journal. You may type it out in full or use an abbreviation. You may also try Select from Index.

In the Cited Year(s) search box, type the year of publication.

The image shows the 'Cited Reference Search' form. It has a title 'Cited Reference Search' with a dropdown arrow. Below the title is the instruction 'Find the articles that cite a person's work.' and 'Step 1: Enter information about the cited work. Fields are combined with the Boolean AND operator.' There is a note: '* Note: Entering the title, volume, issue, or page in combination with other fields may reduce the number of cited reference variants found.' The form has three input fields: 'Cited Author' with the text 'zimmerman F*', 'Cited Work' with the text 'ANNU REV PUBL HEALTH|', and 'Cited Year(s)' with the text '2011'. Each field has a dropdown arrow and a 'Select from Index' link. There is a 'Search' button on the right. At the bottom, there are links for '+ Add Another Field' and 'Clear All Fields'.

For nursing articles, be sure to click the dropdown menu at MORE SETTINGS. Check off both Science Citation Index and Social Sciences Citation Index. Then click Search.
